AROUND the TOWNSHIP

Cancellation of the Township Fair for 1938 by the Centerville Lions Club appears to be a wise move. Now the way is left wide open for cooperation with the county fair project at Pleasanton in August by all the communities of the township. Any other event the club chooses to put on during the year will not be regarded as a counter attraction and can be wholeheartedly supported by all of southern Alameda County.

That the township is not yet ready to accept the project for a junior college seems to be borne out in discussions heard thither and yon.

While there are a good many statistics being cited in favor of establishment of such an institution in southern Alameda County, notice is being taken of the absence of statistics the other way 'round.

For instance, it being conceded that the proposed junior college would be located outside of the township, what would it have to offer greater than present educational facilities with regard to transportation, tuition fee, plant advantages, etc., in competition with present institutions?

As we gather it, sentiment seems to be that the township is unconcerned from a standpoint of bettering the present set-up.

Horseshoes is strictly a man's game. So ruled D. M. Carvo, the Kenesaw Mountain Landis of the First Street courts, when he refused to lend his horseshoes to four Niles women who wished to see whether there really was any fun in tossing the irons about.

"Afraid they'd get hurt," he said, and the responsibility thereof was too great for his shoulders.

Residents of the township were warned this week not to drink water from flooded wells without boiling it.

Further treatment to assure safety was given:

Thoroughly clean out all mud and debris washed into the well; pump out well until water is clear, flushing all pipe lines and keep water from flowing back into well.

Add to well 12 ounces choline of lime or one quart of any household disinfectant containing choline, such as clorox, sani-clor, purex, etc.

Allow well to stand idle 24 hours; pump out well again until odor and taste of choline disappear.

Draw Fines For Having Deer Meat Out Of Season

NILES—Art Schuh, 30, Oakdale, pleaded guilty to possession of deer meat and was fined $25 by Judge J. A. Silva, at the Niles Justice Court Monday. George Lloyd, 59, also of Oakdale was sentenced on a similar charge to 10 days in the county jail in lieu of the fine. Joe Gonzales, Indian woodchopper at Sunol, charged with possession of a deer hide, pleaded not guilty and will have a court trial on March 4.

The trio were arrested by Deputy Game Warden Fred Rogers, Deputy Sheriffs Wallace Ebricht and Henry Vervais and Ranger Dan McCarthy Saturday. Officers had been on the lookout for the car in which Schuh and Lloyd were riding when apprehended. Their woman companion, Mrs. Helen Felt, 40, of Escalon was released. The three claimed they had been with Gonzales for the past week in his cabin near Sunol, according to Deputy Game Warden Rogers.

Asks Citizens To Protest Federal Farm Program Bill

NILES—After considerable discussion regarding a request from the Hayward Chamber of Commerce to endorse the proposal to establish a junior college in Southern Alameda County, the Niles Chamber of Commerce voted to table the matter at Monday's meeting.

John Kimber discussed the Federal Farm Program calling for the payment of more than $1,000,000,000 in cash to farmers who decrease acreage of grain and other crops. This is intended to raise the price of grain and other crops which is the principal raw product out of which eggs are manufactured. Poultrymen, however, are not benefitted by such a program but on the contrary will be greatly injured by it, Kimber stated.

"Poultrymen have already gone through several very hard years in which grain prices have been excessively high and egg prices very low," he said.

Mr. Kimber urged more interest in government affairs and that representatives be told of public attitude on various questions. He asked that letters of protest be sent to senators and congressmen protesting passage of the Federal Farm Bill.

Officers and directors were invited by President C. W. Kraft to this week's meeting of the Rotary Club which is to feature "Chamber of Commerce Day."

A. J. Petsche reported on the recent meeting of the Alameda County Fair Association at Pleasanton which he and George C. Roeding, Jr., attended as delegates from the Niles Chamber.

Farms, Homes and Highways Flooded as Rain Storms Put Many Creeks Out of Banks

ALVARADO—The worst flood that has visited Alvarado and other parts of Washington Township for the past 22 years descended upon this community this past week with the completion of nearly three weeks of rain. Canal Street, V Street, the west end of the Marsh Road and Union City were the residential sections affected, approximately 50 houses being surrounded by water which flowed into only one or two.

On Saturday all four roads leading out of Alvarado to the south were covered, three of them impassable. The Creek Road, the Whipple Road and the Marsh Road were blocked and the main highway at Machado's Corners between Alvarado and Centerville was covered with a foot of water. Ten ranches southeast of the town were flooded for the second time when levees on the Alameda Creek broke.

Residents of the west side of Alvarado were forced to use boats to bring in food supplies. Cattle and stock had to be taken out of barns and several families moved out of their homes.

The Niles Canyon Road was covered with two feet of water at CENTERVILLE—Forty-five attended the Washington-Eden Farm Center meeting held at the Washington Union High School Tuesday night with Paul Dougherty, chairman, presiding.

Joe Shinn, Jr., newly-elected director of the Alameda County Farm Bureau, reported on the recent state-wide meeting of fruit growers at San Jose. Members of the local center were invited to attend a meeting of Santa Clara growers today in San Jose.

H. C. Hodgkins spoke on the future of frozen products and stated that plans were being made in Alameda County to build lockers in which farmers might store products the year around. Fresh frozen raspberries, corn and lima beans which had been frozen three years, were served to those present. Possible products in Washington Township to be given this treatment will be apricots, peas, lima beans.

W. B. Kirk gave a demonstration of the pruning of nursery trees preparatory to planting. Frank Cardozo of the membership committee reported 168 members and a committee still working for 200 to secure the membership trophy. Livermore center still has more members than does the local group.

JUNIOR C. OF C. TO INVOKE RULE TO HIRE TEACHERS IN DISTRICT

IRVINGTON—Demands that all teachers of the Irvington Grammar School live in the district were made by the Irvington Junior Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday night and resolutions were passed asking the board of trustees to engage only such teachers for next year who would live in the community.

It is understood that only two of the seven teachers reside in Irvington. It has been understood for several years that teachers should reside in the school district but strict enforcement of this rule has not been made by the trustees.

A motion was made that a letter be written to the Alameda County board of supervisors asking that something be done to give Irvington better drainage facilities. During the past week's storm the highway between Irvington and Warm Springs has been flooded several times.

The attendance prize for the evening was won by Vernon Leal.

PATRIOTIC LUNCHEON WILL BE GIVEN

Members of Washington Township Country Club who wish to attend the patriotic reciprocity luncheon to be given in honor of Gov. F. F. Merriam at the Women's City Club next Friday should make reservations not later than Wednesday with Mrs. Augustus Dunnaway of 5348 Broadway Terrace, Oakland. Mrs. C. E. Martenstein will head the group from the local club to the affair which is being given by the Women's Civic Club.

ALVARADO—Unanimous agreement that "something should be done" to remedy flood conditions in Southern Alameda County was expressed at a meeting called by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce here Wednesday night. Representatives of Washington and Eden Townships filled the auditorium of the grammar school to hear suggestions from government engineers, the District Attorney's office and the County Board of Supervisors.

Practically all of the largest landowners in the section were present as well as most of those whose ranches were flooded and crops destroyed in last week's storm.

That the federal government would pay for the construction of flood control apparatus if the benefit to the public could be shown to exceed the cost was the opinion expressed by Captain H. S. Pond of San Francisco, United States Government Engineer. He stated however that the state, county or district would have to guarantee to maintain the levees, drainage, etc., that free rights of way must be given and that the government must be held free of any damage that might result.

All legal procedure will be taken care of by the district attorney's office, stated Chief Assistant District Attorney Ralph Hoyt, Supervisors George Hellwig and George Janssen also promised fullest cooperation of the county government.

A preliminary survey made last August by County Surveyor Burnett Hamilton and read by him at the meeting included the following:

The area comprising the watershed of Alameda Creek is divided into 10 separate drainage areas comprising a total drainage area of 661 square miles. These areas include those of Arroyo Del Valle, Arroyo Los Positas, Calaveras Creek and others in the Livermore hills.

Also the area drained by Tennyson Creek and other land adjacent to Alvarado which should drain into Alameda Creek. This total area covers portions of Alameda, Contra Costa and Santa Clara counties. This entire drainage converges at Sunol, flows westerly through Niles Canyon and subjects lands west of Niles to flood conditions.

The report recommends that the three outlets of this area to San Francisco Bay be treated as follows: Eliminate the Crandall Slough; making a definite and adequate channel for the Patterson Slough; Re-opening the channel of Alameda Creek 3,000 feet northwest of the Smith Street Bridge, widening of the Alameda Slough, widening the existing Alameda Creek Channel.

A preliminary estimate of cost indicates $1,496,300.

Attached to the report is a list of property owners and their acreages. Two owners representing 50 per cent of the entire area, 75 per cent of the remaining 408 property owners having areas from a fraction of an acre to 20 acres.

Eric Ruus of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce prophesied that unless flood control measures were taken this area will some day be a huge inland lake. "The job is no bigger than can be done," he said.

Closing of Baker's Slough on the Harvey Ranch was blamed for much of the flood condition by Fred Westman representing ranchers west of Alameda Creek.

Henry Patterson, August May, Charles Wauhab, Peter Decoto, Adolph Oliver, Jack Boyd, Mr. Buchen, Mrs. James R. Whipple and George Oaks were among others who spoke. Charles Baird, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided.

Committees will be appointed at another meeting to be held next Thursday night at the Alvarado Grammar School. The public is invited to attend.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Dark days of uncertainty and confusion held the United States in a paralyzing grip during the stormy six years which followed 1781.

True, the superb generalship of Washington, Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Armies, had completely shattered Britain's yoke with the final military masterstroke of the Revolutionary War—the successful siege of Yorktown and Cornwallis' abject surrender.

But who was now to unite the young and struggling nation in peace as it had been united in War? Alarmed by its political chaos, Washington stated anxiously during these years, "Something must be done, or the fabric must fall, for it is certainly tottering!" To influential friends, he wrote countless letters, making a vigorous plea for an indissoluble union.

When the first bold step was taken toward such a union with the calling of the Constitutional Convention in 1787, it was apparent that only the dynamic leadership of Washington could guide that convention successfully through the Valley Forge of political strife which threatened to rend the young nation apart.

And when the framework and structure of that "more perfect union" had at last been agreed upon, the man who had fought so valiantly in war and peace to create such a union was the one chosen to guide its new destiny. In no state was any other person than Washington considered for the high post of America's first president.

And when, at last, death overtook Washington one December night in 1799, Henry Lee voiced the sentiment of America then, as he voices it today, in deathless words which affirm, "He was first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

TRIUMPHANT LIFE

We call it death, but he would call it life

Eternal death comes only to the friends

Left here. He lives and will not cease to strive

In yearning prayer that we who comprehend

Will carry on, Devoted life, great soul!

He could not rest if any man had need

Of ought that he could do. His utmost goal.

To serve his God and souls of men to feed.

Can you not hear the welcoming angels sing,

And see the widely swinging gates of Heaven,

As he in glorious triumph enters in?

"To him that overcometh shall be given

A crown of life," and led by Master's hand

Together they will work in Spiritland.

COSTUME VALENTINE DINNER CELEBRATED AT HOLEMAN HOME

CENTERVILLE — Thirty-four friends of Dr. and Mrs. George Holeman enjoyed a costume Valentine dinner dance Saturday night celebrating the completion of a "rumpus room" at the Holeman home. A miniature shooting gallery, games and dancing together with impromptu "skits" by the guests made up the evening's entertainment.

The rumpus room which has transformed a large basement into an attractive play room for the youngsters and grown-ups is equipped with an excellent dance floor and an adjoining kitchen adds to its convenience. Murals cover three walls of the room, depicting duck hunting scenes done by Ethel Grau, Niles artist.

The Holemans, who have long ago gained a reputation for "hosts deluxe," were congratulated upon the attractive quarters which they have planned and upon the complete success of an outstanding affair. ## Poultrymen Would Suffer From Farm Federal Program

HAYWARD — The Chinese egg situation and the federal program to decrease grain acreage in this country, both said to be serious problems for American poultrymen, were among the topics discussed at a mass meeting held in the Hayward Union High School Tuesday night. This was the only regional meeting to be held in the San Francisco Bay area this year.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the California Poultry Improvement Association. The chief speaker was A. G. Dudley, until recently sales manager for one of the largest egg-breaking plants in China, who gave first-hand accounts of conditions in that country, production costs of Chinese eggs and other aspects of the egg production problem.

Other speakers included Fred Hogut, secretary of the Associated Farmers, who discussed the labor situation as it affects the poultry industry; and Eric Ruus, manager of the Hayward Poultry Producers Association, who recently returned from a trip through Europe where he studied cooperative associations and agricultural conditions.

The present Federal Farm Program calling for the payment of more than $1,000,000,000 in cash to farmers who decrease planting of grain and other crops, was also discussed. Poultrymen will be greatly injured by such a program, officials of the poultry association claim. The Federal Farm Program in this respect seeks to raise the price of grain which is the principal raw product out of which eggs are manufactured.

Arts And Crafts Guild Has Novel Program Tuesday

NILES — One of the most diversified and interesting programs yet given by the Arts and Crafts Guild of Washington Township was that arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Gladfield Viery at their home Tuesday night. Thirty attended. "Bugs" Cain, naturalist for the Oakland Area Council of Boy Scouts was the main speaker. Others participating were members of the Niles Home Workshop Club.

The March meeting will be omitted as a number of the guild members plan to attend the annual poets' dinner to be given during that month, probably at the Hotel Oakland. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Salz with Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Thornburg in charge of the program.

Mr. Cain brought with him samples of the nature study craftwork done by Boy Scouts and showed stereopticon slides of birds, plants and animals. He also had several live snakes and demonstrated the safe handling of even rattlers. He stressed the need of greater knowledge of insects and reptiles and of dissipation of needless fears concerning them.

Dr. T. C. Wilson spoke on the investing of insects in gold and exhibited a gold hornet which he had made, perfect in the minutest detail even to showing the joints in the legs.

E. F. Glassbrook spoke on woodcraft and showed samples of various woods used in veneers. He exhibited some of his own inlay work.

Clarence Crane demonstrated the process of metal sculpturing, also showing some of his own work. Doremus Scudder exhibited a model railway he is building and also some of his woodcarving.

Viery had brought his electric lathe out of his basement workshop and made a small bowl for those assembled to demonstrate the use of wood-working tools. He also gave a short history of craftsmanship.

Music was furnished by Donald Spetti, accordionist, who explained the structure and manipulation of his instrument and a short poem was read by Gladys Williamson.

ORGANIZATIONS HEAR ABOUT JUNIOR COLLEGE — NEWARK — Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Blue Bird Club, and the Women's Improvement Club heard the juni-
